RE: Connecticut School of Finance & Management
Application for Admission - Class of 2024

Send Them, CSFM Will Train Them!

CSFM has long proven to be a staple within many of the banks in Connecticut, as a critical tool in helping to shape their leadership team of the future. CSFM’s curriculum is designed by bankers for bankers, and provides a unique opportunity for junior management personnel and other key employees to obtain a more comprehensive knowledge and understanding of an ever-changing financial services industry. Attached is the Connecticut School of Finance & Management’s Class of 2024 syllabus and application. The syllabus provides prospective students a detailed description of the School’s curriculum and academic requirements. A copy for download and submission is located here.

Senior Management Action Required

The Admissions section of the outline discusses the basic qualifications applicants must have for acceptance into the CSFM’s Class of 2024. Please note that exceptions can be made. If a candidate only marginally meets the prescribed standards, please contact the Association to discuss. A senior management signature is required on all applications. I encourage you to review its contents, remembering those employees at your institution you feel will play a vital role in the coming years.

Application Submission Deadline

The deadline for submission of applications is FRIDAY, JUNE 10, 2022. While the Class of 2024 will be capped at sixty-five students, the minimum number of students needed to form a class is forty. Acceptance letters will be sent to all students and their CEO’s in July.

Tuition Information

Please see the syllabus for a full description of the fees associated with attendance. Tuition statements will be mailed in early August to each sponsoring bank.

Additional Information

If you have any questions regarding the Connecticut School of Finance & Management, please do not hesitate to contact me at the Association. I hope to see many of your gifted bankers representing your bank in September!

Sincerely,

Kimberly M. Tuttle
Director of Education & CSFM Administrator
